April 29, 2011

Dear Journey's School Parents:

It is hard to believe that May is upon us already – despite the snow that remains in Coyote Canyon. Here at Journey's School, we are excited about an incredible end to our 10th year. Highlights include the following:

- A first public art show for Pre-Kindergarten at the Center for the Arts
- Multiple trips for the elementary school students to Yellowstone, Sun Valley, and the Pacific Northwest
- First all-school talent show and elementary school spelling bee.
- Middle school conference (including keynote) on how local organizations are addressing global climate change
- Strong showings by Journey's School students in the Wyoming Young Authors, Duck Stamp, and robotics competitions
- A first group of 11th grade students enrolled in the International Baccalaureate Diploma Program
- A group of 12th grade students who were accepted at ALL colleges where they applied with many receiving great scholarship support

We are also focused on two major projects this year and next. Both of these major goals will make your child's experience even better.

- Strategic Planning Process: We are developing a new strategic plan in conjunction with Teton Science Schools' strategic planning process. This effort will help to guide us through the next 3-5 years.
- Curriculum Articulation Project: We are completing the end of a two year curriculum articulation project to ensure that the most innovative and research-supported practices are used throughout the school. The final stages of this project, with appropriate funding support, will include defining policies for curricular review, establishing an online system for curriculum documentation, refining our process of assessment review, and formalizing all curriculum guides.

Our goal is to be a leader in educational innovation and academic excellence in the United States. The short term list of objectives at the Pre-Kindergarten level includes:

- Enhancing the curriculum for the afternoon portion of the program
- Continuing to strengthen relationships between the Kindergarten and Pre-Kindergarten programs
- Continuing to document and showcase our work within the community and invite more community members to work with us in Pre-Kindergarten (local builders, artists, musicians, etc.)

In terms of staffing, Andy Angstrom will be leaving next year to go to graduate school. We are thankful for his time and efforts during the afternoon program. Paige Byron will also be attending graduate school, but staying with us and moving to part time. We are currently in the hiring process and will let you know when decisions have been made. We are now processing the many applications that have been submitted.

At the leadership level, I will be taking a sabbatical from December through March next year. My family and I will be living on the west coast of Costa Rica where I am hoping to write and help support a local school. This sabbatical was approved four years ago and I have deferred each year. In my absence Jack Shea will serve as acting Head of School. Jack ran Journeys School for the first five years and is the Executive Director of Teton Science Schools. Financial, fundraising, board interactions, and major communication will be Jack's responsibility. Jack will work in conjunction with Betsy Trowbridge (leading the PK-5th grades), David Porter (leading the 6th-12th grades), and Tammie Van Holland (Director of Admissions and Finance) to ensure excellence at all levels. I have already met with this group and will continue to do so to ensure that the quality of education continues to get better every day. As always, lines of communication should move in the following order: 1) advisor or teacher, 2) program leaders, 3) Head of School, and 4) Board Chair. The school is in excellent shape and the major projects on my agenda will be complete by the time that I depart.

As we enter our 11th year, the visioning process is an exciting one. We have finished our growth and now are focusing on an incredible program combining academic excellence, extraordinary relationships, place-based education, and global citizenship. We are honored to have your children with us this year and know that we are making a positive difference in both their lives and the world. The growth of each student both intellectually and socially continues to amaze me.

Please mark your calendars for our graduation and end of the year celebration at 5:30 PM on Wednesday, June 8th. As always, feel free to contact me at any time with questions regarding the school.

Sincerely,
